Dear parents and carers,

We hope you all had a great bank holiday weekend. It was been an exciting week in school with our children going to the polls! Have a look on the next page for our new School Council members. We have lots of exciting events being planned for this summer term including our 'Healthy Mind, Happy Me' project, please sign up and take part in these wonderful family/community activities that start next week. Please also keep your eye out for trip letters and the return of SHINE mornings-it will be lovely to see you in school.

Enjoy the weekend from Mrs Jukes and the Oxhey Staff Team

NSPCC

Online Safety

NSPCC have partnered with Ambitious about Autism to bring online safety tips, advice and activities specifically for parents and carers of children with SEND. Parents may find letting their child go online to be intimidating; they might be worried about the different spaces their child explores, the people they meet digitally and the potential for things to go wrong.

Being online can be positive for children and young people, including those with additional needs. So much of our communication now happens online, either by messages, in a game or through a video call. Sometimes online platforms like the apps, social media sites and games children accesses can help them connect and make friends with new people that they might not know offline.

As a parent or carer, you play an important role in helping your child to have positive experiences online. If your child has additional needs, then this role can be even more important, and it can feel like a lot of responsibility when you hear about some of the risks young people face online. Please click on the link for online safety tips, advice and activities to help keep your child safe online.
